

Two-stage decomposition: measure rays first, identify optics second

Stage 1 measures rays (Ray2D is 2D; Zernike BA imposes only generic 3D ray consistency, no physical CMO model); Stage 2 identifies optics in ray space.

